

iCON announces campaign for its subscribers and residents of Yerevan who are in the coverage area to receive a discount for internet access and data transmission services under following conditions:

1. During campaign period of time, who signed a contract on provision of internet access and data transmission services with iCON (further – new subscriber) and iCON existing subscriber, who referred a new subscriber (by whose referral a contract was signed with the new customer) shall both receive a non-recurring discount of announced by iCON amount, each.
2. For new postpaid subscribers the discount shall be applied towards activation fee (the discount deducts from the activation fee) and for existing and new prepaid customers –for each referred subscriber a discount announced by iCON towards the monthly fee for the month following the actual month (further – discount application period).
3. If the cumulative amount of discounts for referred new subscriber exceeds the monthly fee of the given subscriber, the excess amount shall be applied to monthly fee for the month(s) following the discount application period.
4. Only existing iCON residential subscribers are eligible for this discount. The discount shall not be applied towards both new and existing subscribers in case of early contract termination, suspension or termination of service during the discount application period. In such case the activation fee discount shall be announced invalid and the outstanding amount of applied discount is due along with the monthly fee for the month when the ground for cancellation of discount occurred.
5. If at the moment of contract signage the new subscriber does not mention an existing customer and a referee for becoming iCON subscriber, no discount shall be applied. Any reference made after the contract signage shall not be considered as a ground for discount application.
